

Closing the loop on organics cards

Print front to back and cut out.

You put your snotty tissue in this bin after use. Is this good or bad?

1.

You rake up a very damp pile of autumn leaves – where can they go?

2.

Your lunch bag is made of carbon so you tear it up and put it in where?

3.

You go on a picnic and have leftover crusts and orange peel – where can they go?

4.

Dad is about to add onion and orange peel to the worms. Is this good or bad?

5.

You make a salad and have leftover peelings – where can they go?

6.

You finish cleaning up a water spill with paper towels. Which bin will you throw them in?

7.

You go on holiday and leave your worm farm in the sun with no water. Is this good or bad?

8.

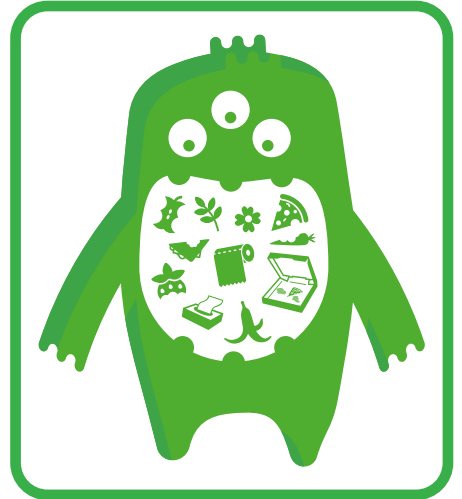

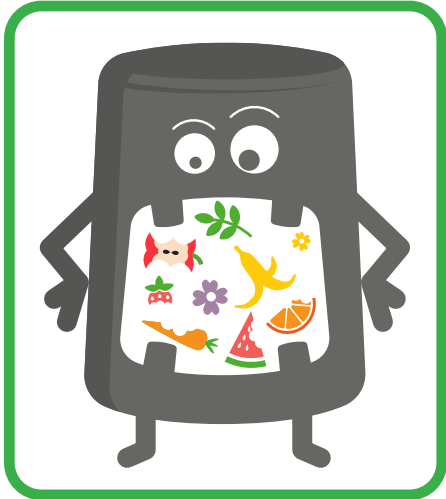

You throw a whole apple in the compost bin, including sticker. Is this good or bad?

9.

Closing the loop on organics cards

Print front to back and cut out.

Closing the loop on organics cards

Print front to back and cut out.

Cardboard and shredded paper make great bedding for chooks. Where else can you put these items?

10.

Your mushed fruit scraps have gone mouldy in your worm farm. What could be the problem?

11.

Can you put meat bones and processed foods in your compost bin?

12.

When chooks poop & scratch up the soils, this helps to make good compost. True or false?

13.

It is good to crush up eggshells for earthworms because they have no teeth. True or false?

14.

A good compost bin needs water and aeration as well as green (nitrogen) and brown (carbon) food sources. True or false?

15.

You can feed your chooks a variety of meat & dairy. True or false?

16.

Red wigglers are composting worms that can live in ordinary soil too. True or false?

17.

Items that can be composted are carbon and nitrogen based. Are grass clippings one of these?

18.

Closing the loop on organics cards

Print front to back and cut out.

